

You just graduated from college and were hired into your first career position. Your goal is to advance quickly, so you want to be recognized as a professional.

Drag and match whether each statement is True or False.

False		Your personal online accounts for email and social media should be kept separate from professional business accounts.
True		It is acceptable for you to post personal messages on the company's social media accounts.
		You should merge your personal and professional identities.
		Your employer might review your social media accounts.

You recently attended a college lecture about effective listening skills. You want to practice these skills when you attend your other classes.

For each skill, select Yes if it is an example of an effective listening skill or No if it is not.

	Yes	No
Facing the speaker	☐	☐
Moderating intonation and enunciation	☐	☐
Keeping your attention on the message	☐	☐
Deferring judgement	☐	☐

You are giving instructions to a classroom of high school students about how to conduct research using the scientific method.

Which two options are examples of effective nonverbal skills you should use during your presentation? (Choose two)

Enunciating key words
Facing the audience
Moderating intonation
Responding to questions
Making eye contact
Increasing volume to emphasize a point

A non-profit organization has hired you to write messaging for a series of posters designed to influence readers about climate change.

What is the first step you should take before writing your message?

Find out the size of the posters

Consider the budget for the campaign

Identify the audience demographics

Hire a visual design artist

You are preparing a lesson about Healthy Living for an event sponsored by a coalition of Christian churches.

The coalition organization has provided you with demographic data describing the attendees invited to the event.

- 85% of your audience is Christian.
- All of your audience are single mothers.
- Education level is unknown.
- More than half of your audience are widowed.

What demographics should you consider to maximize the effectiveness of your message on Healthy Living?

Age, education, and marital status

Marital status, gender, and religion

Religion, race, and gender

Gender, age, and race

You've prepared a high-energy presentation with an emotional message. Your presentation is scheduled to occur in a large meeting room that seats 300 people. The audio/visual support person has set up a projector with a large screen at the front of the room and a microphone attached to a podium. You anticipate many questions and lots of audience interaction. When the time arrives for your presentation to begin, only one person attends, and he sits in the back of the room.

For each element, select Yes if it affects your message or No if it does not.

	Yes	No
Number of handouts you prepared	☐	☐
The availability of audio and visual equipment	☐	☐
Size of the room	☐	☐
Audience size	☐	☐

You've been asked to be the speaker for a 1-hour presentation at a large conference. The conference committee scheduled your presentation in a ballroom with a capacity of 500 people. You've been told approximately 465 people have enrolled in your session.

What environmental factor must you consider that could impact your message?

The traffic getting to the conference center

Bad weather

Audio equipment

How many people attend your presentation

You are taking a course in Business Communications and are learning to distinguish between different types of messaging.

Indicate whether each message type is Informative, Persuasive, or Motivational.

To answer, move each message type from the list on the left to the matching example on the right. Each message type may be used once, more than once, or not at all.

Persuasive

Motivational

Informative

A chemistry professor instructing a class of students before beginning a lab.

Speakers shouting to people walking past a protest rally.

Political candidates soliciting votes during a televised debate.

You've downloaded two hit songs from the Internet and incorporated them into a presentation you've created for a large regional conference. You will be representing your company at this conference.

Your supervisor questions if you can legally use the songs in your presentation. You tell her you believe you can use the songs because they are for educational purposes.

Which four are the factors a court judge would evaluate to resolve copyright Fair Use disputes? (Choose four)

Purpose of the copy

The date the copy was obtained from a website

Nature of the work that was copied

Amount of the work copied

Copy was of an original bought by a friend or family member

Effect of the copy's use on the potential market

If the copy is of work published to support training

A company has announced a new industry certification for one of its software products. They have hired you to promote their new certification at several upcoming conferences. You are creating your presentation and have included a video of three different hiring directors testifying about the credibility this certification will add to job applicants.

You want to ensure that there are no legal or ethical issues with your presentation.

Which two actions should you perform to avoid legal or ethical issues? (Choose two)

Display the name and company of each hiring director during the video segment of their testimony.

Ensure that your presentation meets accessibility standards.

Obtain a location release for the site where you will present.

Remove all personal information from your presentation.

Obtain model releases for any recognizable people in your presentation.

The corporation where you work has offices worldwide. You use a variety of communication technologies every day.

Given a situation, select whether the most appropriate communication technology would be a text message, phone call, video conference, or email.

To answer, move each communication technology from the list on the left to the matching situation on the right. Each message communication technology may be used once, more than once, or not at all.

Text message

Phone call

Video conference

Email

Notifying friends you will be a few minutes late

Urgent information to share with your supervisor

Job interview with a committee

Sharing a news article with a coworker

The CEO and several vice presidents are off-site for the day attending meetings at a local event center. You have been left in charge of the company in their absence. The company occupies three adjacent buildings located in an industrial area. Shortly before lunch, there is a small explosion in the break room of one of the buildings. An employee named Julie Smith is found alone and unconscious in the break room and is immediately taken to the hospital by two coworkers who found her. An unidentified employee called 911, and the fire department has arrived. The police and bomb squad are also arriving. The fire department is evacuating the three buildings. Several employees are seen driving away in their cars.

You need to notify the absent upper management quickly and notify them about the incident.

How should you summarize your message?

Send a group text to upper management stating that there has been an explosion in one of the break rooms, Julie Smith has been taken to the hospital, and the fire department is evacuating everyone else.

Send a text to the CEO requesting he call you at his earliest convenience because employees are leaving the work site without permission.

Send an email to the upper management group explaining there was an explosion, an employee was found unconscious, and the incident was not your fault.

Call the CEO several times because his phone is on silent mode. Leave a voicemail message each time asking him to call you.

You are preparing a presentation to your Home Owners Association (HOA) about adding Internet service to the HOA benefits. You prepare the following outline and need to provide a summary for the monthly HOA newsletter.

1. Introduction
2. Survey results of residents use of the Internet
 1. How residents use the Internet
 2. Amount of time spent on the Internet
3. Monthly cost residents pay for Internet service
 1. Costs paid to phone providers
 2. Costs paid to TV providers
3. Internet Service Providers offering bulk purchasing discounts
 1. List of phone providers
 2. List of TV providers
4. Top 3 offerings available
 1. Internet only
 2. Internet plus phone service
 3. Internet plus TV service
 4. Internet plus TV and phone service
5. Miscellaneous features offered in each offering
 1. Inappropriate content filtering
 2. Scam phone blocker
6. Equipment costs to implement
 1. Costs for hub equipment to be paid by HOA
 2. Costs for home equipment for each resident
7. Proposed increases to monthly HOA fees
8. 5-yr. projected costs to maintain Internet service
9. Conclusion

How should you summarize your presentation for the HOA monthly newsletter?

Survey says residents want Internet included in our HOA benefits.

Providing residents Internet service as an HOA benefit will ensure our children and elderly will be kept safe from inappropriate content.

Including Internet service in our HOA benefits gives each resident phone and TV at no additional cost.

You are preparing an outline for a presentation. After you prepare the outline, you will develop the slides to support it.

Which three actions will help you prepare an effective speaking outline? (Choose 3)

Include citations

Include quotes

Include the purpose

Embed images and videos

Use full sentences

Use keywords or phrases

You are creating a resume. In which order should you organize the components of a resume?

Move all the components to the answer area and place them in the most commonly accepted correct order.

Work history with dates of employment, job title, and company name		1
Names of your schools and diploma or degree received		2
Opening statement of the type of work you are seeking		3
References		4
Your name and contact information		5

You are taking a course in Business Communications and are learning about visual design.

Indicate whether the description matches the visual design principle of Balance, Proximity, or Contrast.

To answer, move each visual design principle from the list on the left to the matching description on the right. Each visual design principle may be used once, more than once, or not at all.

Contrast		Asymmetrical, symmetrical, and radial
Proximity		Elements closer together are more related
Balance		The difference between black and white in images

You are preparing an end-of-year report on the sales performance of key products manufactured by your company.

Which visual presentation option is best for showing trends in data?

Table
Bar Chart
Line Chart
Pie Chart

You work for the Department of Tourism in a state that has resorts designed to support snow sports such as downhill skiing, snowboarding, cross-country skiing, and snowmobiling. You are creating a presentation to promote the resorts. You want to organize the data so you can analyze it by sorting and filtering by category (e.g., resort name, snow depth, acreage size, number of lifts, ticket prices).

Which is the best visual tool for organizing data so it can be sorted and filtered?

Table

Bar Chart

Line Chart

Pie Chart

You are preparing for a job interview. You want to portray an image of professionalism during the interview.

For each scenario, select whether it is Appropriate or Inappropriate to prepare you for the interview.

Inappropriate

Appropriate

Research what attire is expected by the interviewing committee.

Apply your favorite cologne or perfume.

Bathe and groom properly.

Choose attire and grooming that communicates your unique personality.

You are a motivational speaker. You travel all over the world teaching people how to improve their Business Communication Skills.

Which two environmental variables are involved in delivering an effective message? (Choose two)

Location

Jargon

Grooming

Technology

Attire

You are a graduate student at a university. One of your responsibilities is to tutor students enrolled in first-year Business Communication courses.

A midterm exam is approaching, and you are reviewing topics with a group of 30 students. You notice most of the students are confused about the information you are presenting.

For each method, select Yes if it will help adapt your message and No if it will not.

No		Analyze their homework questions.
Yes		Identify the area of confusion and explain it differently.
		Ask the students if they have any questions.
		Review all of the topics again.
		Provide handouts of basic business terms and definitions.

It is your goal to always deliver effective messaging and to adapt your messages to the audience whenever appropriate.

During the presentation, which is the best way to collect indirect feedback from your audience to help you adapt your message?

Schedule breaks to talk to the person who engaged you to speak.

Contact your audience the day before to ask what they hope to learn.

Watch your audience for body language.

Serve refreshments.

A coworker must leave town for a few days, and she has asked you to attend a meeting for her. You take copious notes and collect all of the handouts. How should you summarize the following information?

The marketing campaign for new products will launch on February 2nd. Three events will promote the new products. These events will be held in Los Angeles, Paris, and Tokyo. Employees attending these events must submit their travel requests to the Marketing Department by January 1st. Only economy class airfare will be allowed. All travel must be booked through the new company travel agency.

New products are being released in Los Angeles, Paris, and Tokyo.

The new product launch is February 2nd. The deadline to submit your travel request is January 1st.

The company has hired a new travel agency. All travel must be booked with them.

Expenses are being cut and everyone must now fly economy class.

You are employed at a store that sells home electronics. As a courtesy, the store will transfer data from a customer's old computer to a new computer for no charge but only within 48 hours of purchasing the new computer.

A customer comes into the store 3 months after purchasing a new computer and wants you to transfer her data from her old computer. You tell the customer that store policy won't allow you to do it for free because it has been more than 48 hours since her purchase. The customer gets angry and leaves the store before you can seek a solution for her. She posts negative comments about you and the store all over social media.

The next week, your boss calls you into his office and wants to know what this is about.

How should you summarize the verbal incident that occurred between you and the customer?

You denied the customer a courtesy data transfer onto a computer she purchased 3 months ago. She got angry and left before you could resolve the matter.

Customer threatened you on social media for something you didn't do.

The store should no longer transfer data for free.

The store should perform free data transfers for the life of the computer.

The university you attend has posted the following flyer in several locations around campus.

ATTENTION ALL STUDENTS:

Beginning March 10th, the north parking lot will be closed for resurfacing and striping. It is expected that this parking lot will be closed for approximately 2 weeks. Students are asked not to park in the residential neighborhoods north of campus. City officials have warned they will ticket all vehicles illegally parked in residential areas. Temporary student parking will be made available near the east soccer field. Please use this lot or find alternative forms of transportation during the closure. Thank you!

What are three key points of this message? (Choose three)

The university is resurfacing all of the student parking lots.

Students should stop driving cars and ride bicycles because it is better for the environment.

It takes approximately 2 weeks to stripe a parking lot.

Cars illegally parked in surrounding neighborhoods will be ticketed.

Temporary parking is available near the east soccer field.

The north parking lot will be closed from March 10th for 2 weeks.

A customer calls a computer support center where you work. He is talking very fast and seems frustrated. He identifies himself as a college student and tells you he cannot upload his midterm assignment from his laptop computer. He also says he is in a hurry because he has a class starting in 10 minutes and he cannot risk failing his class. He says his computer has never worked right since he purchased it and he'll never buy another one from your company.

You want to clarify the issue so you can help the customer. How should you appropriately respond?

Ask the student, "What username and password you are using?"

Put the student on hold so you can research the issue.

Ask if the student has Wi-Fi.

Paraphrase by asking, "So, you're calling to get help uploading a file?"

Your supervisor has promoted you to be the night manager at a small retail store. He gives you a list of responsibilities that only you are to perform.

- Close out the cash registers, count the money, and lock it in the safe.
- Inventory any shipment boxes that arrived that day.
- Set the alarm.
- Lock the store.

Which response could you give to appropriately clarify this message?

Which task is the most important?

In what order shall I perform these tasks?

What happens if I don't have time to do all of these tasks?

What if there are no shipments to inventory?

You are interviewing for a management position at a small electronics store. You've been asked to provide several documents.

For each item below, select whether it is Legal or Illegal for the interviewer to request the document.

Legal		A copy of your voter registration card
Illegal		Proof of U.S. citizenship or a copy of your work permit or visa
		Photocopy of a credit card
		References from previous employers

Since you were a child, you have wanted a career as an animator and to work for a well-known studio that produces award-winning family films. You are finishing your junior year of high school and are beginning to shop programs offered at several post-secondary schools.

What action can you take to help you acquire your dream job after you finish your schooling?

Write to dozens of schools and pick one that offers financial assistance.

Attend a few classes and choose courses that are the most fun.

Meet with a hiring manager at the film studio where you want to work and ask what preparation the studio seeks in the ideal applicant.

Meet with your high school career counselor and ask for assistance with selecting a post-secondary school.

You work in a warehouse to support yourself while acquiring a degree in Business Communication. You recently graduated and are in the process of interviewing for career positions in business. An interview is scheduled near the location where you live. The interview will occur two hours after you finish work. Instead of going home immediately after work, you decide to unwind with friends, eat some pizza, then go directly to your interview. You arrive just as the interview time begins looking a bit dirty and smelling like pizza.

What mistake was made?

You should have scheduled the interview for a later time.

You should have arrived 2 hours early to the interview to show how much you want the position.

You should have brought one of your friends to your interview.

You should have gone home to shower and change attire.

Which body language tells you a listener is not engaged with your presentation?

Chin down, staring at a phone

Leaning forward and listening to you

Watching you intently

Facial expressions are responding to your message

You must send an email to an employee in another department.

Which two recipients should you include in the Courtesy Copy (CC) line? (Choose two)

All employees in your department

The recipient's supervisor

Your supervisor

All employees in the recipient's department

The CEO of the company

All employees in the company

You are collaborating with a group of coworkers on a project. How can you make sure everybody is updated on the project?

Hold daily meetings and require everyone involved in the project to attend.

Send multiple copies of all communication to everyone involved.

Form a message group of the coworkers involved and send all communication to the group.

Send copies of every communication to your supervisor.

You are being harassed by a coworker while on the work site. This has been happening every other week on payday for the past two months.

Which three communications should you make within the business hierarchy to address this harassment? (Choose three)

Report the harassment to the CEO of the company.

Report the harassment to your supervisor.

Send a company-wide email reporting the harassment.

Report the harassment to your Human Resources Department.

Report the harassment to the Payroll Department.

Notify the coworker that you feel you are being harassed and to stop.

You work in a call center that has contracts with several companies to support video conferencing for their employees. You have just received a telephone call from a distressed customer who reports she is unable to connect to her company's live broadcast.

Move all of the communications to the answer area and place them in the correct order.

Ask appropriate questions to verify whether the customer has the minimum hardware and software required for the video conference.		1
Assure the customer that you will help her.		2
If the customer has adequate hardware and software, reset her connection and instruct her to reboot and log in again.		3
If the customer does not have the minimum hardware and software, gently inform her she will not be able to participate in the video conference and encourage her to talk to her company supervisor.		4
Greet the customer in a friendly tone and ask her to describe the problem.		5
Document the telephone call. Include the identified problem, possible solutions, and actions taken. Either mark the issue as resolved or escalate it to the appropriate team member for follow-up.		6

You work for a retail toy store. A woman comes into the store wanting to return a toy she recently purchased for her grandson. She reports that the toy does not work and shows you her receipt.

Which three ways could you appropriately respond to the customer? (Choose three)

Apologize for the inconvenience.
Offer to replace the toy with the same model or another of equal value.
Ask the customer to show you the warranty for the toy.
Inform the customer you will contact the manufacturer of the toy for operating instructions.
Ask the customer for her email address so you can send her grandson a birthday card.
Offer to refund the customer's money.

The CEO of a large company has called a meeting of all employees in the Sales department. He opens the meeting by encouraging his employees to promote a new product, and he offers a series of incentives. He then spends 30 minutes delivering performance test results, information on specifications, and facts that compare the superiority of the new product to competing products. The entire meeting is exciting and has high energy. At the conclusion of the meeting, the CEO solicits each sales employee to commit to a quota based on the incentive they desire to earn.

Complete each statement by selecting the correct option from the dropdown list.

Complete each statement by selecting the correct option from the dropdown list. 1. The message type in this scenario is 2. The message uses to influence the listener.

ethics
emotions logic culture

CertPREP
PRACTICE TESTS
Powered by GMETRIX

You have been hired to teach high school biology for the U.S. territory of Guam. Most of the students are native to the island with either Chamorro or Filipino surnames. You want your students to respect you from the first day they meet you so you can deliver effective lessons.

What actions can you take to prepare to meet your students? Use the dropdown lists to accurately complete the following statements.

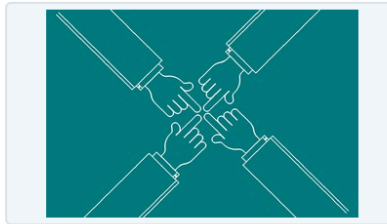

Complete each statement by selecting the correct option from the dropdown list. 1. Ask another teacher or staff member to help you 2. Study the culture of the island and learn the local jargon

road ways mistakes
recipes

CertPREP
PRACTICE TESTS
Powered by GMETRIX

Select the image that is the best example of the design principle known as Proximity.

You are the business manager for a band that is growing in popularity. The band plays music targeted at Christian audiences and now has two hit albums. An event organizer contacts you to request that your band perform a public concert where 50% of the ticket sales will be donated to a selection of charities.

How should you respond to this request? Use the dropdown lists to mark each statement as Appropriate or Inappropriate.

Complete each statement by selecting the correct option from the drop-down list.

1. How much will the band be paid?	Choose One... ▾	2. Will you guarantee that only Christians will attend?	Choose One... ▾
3. We won't play if you hire non-Christians to work at the concert.	Choose One... ▾	4. Which specific charities will be receiving the donations?	Choose One... ▾

- Choose One... ▾
- Choose One...
- Appropriate
- Inappropriate

You are the scribe for a non-profit organization. You are preparing the minutes from your most recent meeting.

Look at the statements below about preparing minutes. Select True if you should do what the statement says and False if you should not.

Complete each statement by selecting the correct option from the drop-down list. 1. Limit the minutes to one page. 2. Include the date and the time the meeting started and ended. 3. Outline all topics discussed in the order discussed. 4. Use a variety of fonts and colors to make the minutes looking interesting. 5. Cite the names of the individuals who proposed new ideas or who strongly supported or opposed topics.

Choose One...

Choose One...

True

False

CertPREP
PRACTICE TESTS
Powered by GMETRIX

Using social media, you often share jokes with your friends and make fun of people.

Which two perceptions might readers have about you based on your social media posts? (Choose two)

You must be very intelligent.

You like people and are playful.

You are witty and popular.

You lack empathy.

You should change professions and become a comedian.

You are disrespectful.